

Loving care for cherished lives

Will you provide help for another baby like this one?

I want to tell you about Tiffany, abandoned very soon after birth because she had spina bifida. When she was 5 kgs she was deemed big enough to survive surgery to close the lesion and insert a shunt to drain the excess fluid from around her brain. Surgery for babies like Tiffany is, to say the least, 'hopeful' here in China. Born undiagnosed, unprepared for and prematurely to horrified parents they are abandoned soon after birth. They can be left unwashed and with faeces contaminating the lesion for several days, or indefinitely, depending on what facilities are available. Sadly Tiffany's shunt became infected and needed to be replaced, twice, causing her a lot of discomfort and anxiety. Following her third operation within a few months it was decided to treat her palliatively and allow her to live a good quality of life among people who loved her.

Tiffany received loving care over the course of her short life and grew in spite of her bad start, into a bright, clever and loving little girl. At about one year old she learned to commando crawl and rush around after her little friend, Chen Chen.

Tiffany died when she was two years old and was active and happy until just a week before her death.

Because ChinaKidz provides palliative care for dying babies and children it is inappropriate to offer sponsorships for a specific child; what we can do is ask you to consider sponsoring a cot and, therefore, any baby that is receiving loving care in it.

A donation of £25 a month will provide:

- ♥ Beautiful clean clothes
- ♥ Nourishing milk and fresh food
- ♥ Loving care and attention from their own Nanny
- ♥ Clean nappies, bedding, environment and the appropriate nursing care and medicines.

In turn we will be able to let you know about the babies who have used that cot.

Perhaps you could organise a team or friends to help share this commitment?

To set up your sponsorship please email your details as specified below to info@chinakidz.org .

Spread the word....tell others about what you are doing.

On behalf of Tiffany's brothers and sisters – Thank you.
